Dear Parents/Carers,

RE: Year 6 SATs week 2024

I am writing to inform you of the arrangements for SATs week which begins Monday 13th May 2023 - Thursday 16th May 2024.

Firstly, let me start by saying that the children have worked extremely hard this year and you should be very proud of them. It is now time however, for them to put all of this knowledge into practice, by doing their very best and completing their SATs successfully.

We are confident that all of the children will reach their highest potential. With this in mind we ask that you support your children fully throughout this week by talking to them about trying their best and remaining calm. We, as teachers are unable to support them during this time, apart from pupils who are entitled to extra time, readers, prompters and scribes. We would also appreciate if you can ensure that they get to bed early and are fully rested for each morning of the tests.

We will be providing breakfast for all our children at no extra cost to yourselves and would like you to bring them into school for 8.00am the week of the SATs (Monday to Thursday). We will take the opportunity on these mornings to do some early morning verbal revision and calm any nerves that we may have, before beginning the actual exams by 9.30 am. If your child normally comes to school with their younger sibling, please inform me so that we can make arrangements to cater for them as well.

Once again, thank you for your continued support and please see the timetable below for exact exam dates.
